

Cyclic triaxial apparatus with servo controlled pneumatic cylinder

Ehime University Cyclic triaxial apparatus with servo controlled pneumatic cylinder can precisely control stress state of specimens. This is mainly used to perform liquefaction tests on soils used for centrifuge models and on materials obtained from in-situ. High-quality undisturbed samples obtained by grand freezing method are sometimes tested in this apparatus.